With Navy And Army

The Germans Have Mapped Out Manoeuvres of Exceptional Interest.

The Czar Will Attend and Lord Roberts Has Also Been Invited.

King Edward Is Enjoying Himself With Automobile Around Homburg.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—While the papers are flooded with details of the Czar's approaching visit to France, confirmation of the announcement that His Majesty will also attend the German naval manoeuvres, which was made in Paris some days ago, was for some reason, known only to official minds, kept back from the German public until yesterday. The statement that the Czar will visit Dantzic in private and that no minister will be present, is quite wrong. Both Count von Bulow and Count Lamsdorff will accompany their imperial masters. Attempts, therefore, to divert the meeting of political character are vain. Important political transactions will be concluded, but the mere fact that Emperor William will have an opportunity of exchanging personally his views on pending questions is regarded as politically important. As a high official said: "The Emperor will meet good friends from the conviction that it is the best thing for both to be good friends, though attempts may be made here and there to mar that friendship."

The meeting will take place on board the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern. The Czar's visit will last only 48 hours. At the same time that the Czar will be reviewing the French fleet and troops, the German imperial manoeuvres, to which Lord Roberts, the British commander-in-chief, has been invited, will be in progress in the country southward of Dirschau, on the Vistula. The manoeuvres are of exceptional interest this year. Special attention will be paid to the cyclist divisions, pigeon post and Saturday morning attacks on each other, and to the experiments with motor cars. Emperor William will command one side of the naval manoeuvres, and will continue the naval and army manoeuvres until September 15. King Edward is automobiling around Homburg in a car, which looks more like an armoured-clad than a carriage. It is a kind of a char-a-banc, very large and gloomy and painted green-black. It has six seats, and the King is seated in the front. The car is so heavily armed with machine guns and other weapons, which would not be obtainable otherwise.

NANAIMO WATERWORKS.

Bylaw to Use Sinking Fund Surplus for Them Carried.

Nanaimo, B. C., Aug. 24.—(Special).—The bylaw appropriating $10,500 of the sinking fund surplus for the waterworks was carried by 171 to 6. Committees representing the underground employees and artisans of the New Vancouver Coal Company, have decided upon a mass meeting for next Saturday night to discuss the question of appointing two doctors instead of having only one as at present.

At a meeting of the Merchant Employees' Association, a request was made by the Trades and Labor Council for the society to organize as a Trades union. A committee was appointed to consider the question and report at a meeting of the M. E. A. on September 5. The character of the celebration of the Wednesday afternoon closing season was deferred until that meeting also.

A change has been made in the arrangements for the survey of the Nanaimo-Alberni Railway route. The work will not commence until Monday. At first it was the intention to start at the Alberni end, but now it has been decided to make a start from Nanaimo.

SOCIETY DAY.

Vancouver Has Rather Poor Attendance But Good Time.

Vancouver, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Society day was a great success in some ways, but disappointing in others. The outside brethren did not come in large numbers, and local lodges were grievously disappointed at the meagre turnout from Victoria. The procession of local lodges, firemen and police was very creditable, but the great crowd lining the streets thought the parade had been commenced when it was all over. The games at Brockton Point were very interesting, and were witnessed by a good crowd. Among the most interesting events was an intermediate lacrosse match between the Y. M. C. A. and Westminster, the latter winning by 4 to 1. An enjoyable day was terminated by a successful ball at the Market hall.

SHIPPING DISASTERS.

Eight Persons Drowned in Wreck of Liban-California Steamer Sunk.

Stettin, Germany, Aug. 24.—News has just been received here that the German steamer Liban, which left Memel bound for this port on the evening of August 14, sprang a leak during the night and sank. Sixteen of the crew put off in small boats. One of these boats capsized and eight persons were drowned. The other shipwrecked men reached Krantz in safety.

Antioch, Aug. 24.—The San Joaquin river steamer Dauntless, bound from San Francisco for Stockton, was sunk today in a collision with the freighter Mary Garrett. The passengers and crew of the Dauntless were saved.

ROYAL RECEPTION.

Question of Precedence Vexing Minds of Vancouver Mayor and Council.

Vancouver, Aug. 24.—(Special).—The royal reception committee are still hard at work. The appropriation is now exceeded by $2,000, and it has been decided to appeal to the citizens to make up the difference between the $5,000 set aside by the council and the actual expenses paid. The vexed question of precedence has again cropped up, and has caused a feeling between the adherents on one side and the mayor and reception committee on the other, not as harmonious as it should be. It appears that orders have come from Ottawa that the suit of the royal visitors must not be worn with the royal party as guests of the city. In arranging for this contingency, the celebration committee decided that while the adherents entertained the Prince's suit at the Market Hall, the mayor should entertain his Royal Highness at luncheon somewhere else. The message when conveyed to the adherents by His Worship was received by the indignant adherents with ill-concealed displeasure. The unpleasantness occurred at the finance meeting last evening, and today it was the cause of much comment.

Republic And Grand Forks

Contract for Construction of the Entire Railway Has Been Awarded.

Three Thousand Men and Big Plant Will Rush the Building.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Grand Forks, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Charles Ferguson & Company, contractors, Spokane, have been awarded the contract for the construction of the entire line of the Republic and Grand Forks railway, with the exception of about four miles already partially graded. The proposed road connecting this smelting centre with the United States mining camp will be about 35 miles long, and according to the contract, must be completed before New Year's, 1902.

Mr. Ferguson has established headquarters here and says he will have between two and three thousand men at work within a few weeks. A portion of his outfit has arrived, but four additional carloads are expected tomorrow or Monday. Construction camps have already been established between here and the boundary, four and a half miles distant, and camps three miles apart will be located next week at intermediate points as far south as Republic.

Tracy W. Holland, general manager of the Republic & Grand Forks railway, confirmed the award of the contract to Ferguson & Company. The contractors' outfit, he said, included a track-laying machine, capable of laying two miles of ties and rails daily. The Grand Forks depot will be located on the Rockies Addition, just south and adjoining the city limits. Connection will be made with the C. P. R. tracks.

"We have two depot sites at Republic," he said, "but have not decided which one to accept. A traffic arrangement with the C. P. R. has been effected. I bought all the equipment when in the East about a month ago. An interlocking of the company to run the first train into Republic on New Year's day. Mr. Holland estimated that Republic, when provided with railway facilities, will ship at least 600 tons of ore daily to the Grand Forks smelter for treatment. This figure will almost be trebled within six months. It is a noteworthy fact that the Great Northern is also busily engaged building a railway between Grand Forks and Republic. A lively race to be the first to reach the Republic will be witnessed during the ensuing three or four months.

NAVAL BOILER TESTING RACE

Committee Report Issued But No Opinion Expressed on The Merits.

Special to the Colonist.

London, Aug. 24.—The Admiralty has issued a highly technical record of the boiler testing race between the cruiser Hyacinth, fitted with water tube boilers, and the cruiser Minerva, having cylindrical, or Scotch boilers.

Rear-Admiral Sir William Donville, chairman of the boiler committee, refrains from expressing an opinion, but he points out that the Hyacinth's coal consumption was 550 tons, and that the Minerva's was 451 tons. The maximum horse-power developed during the testing two hours run was 8,700 for the Minerva, and 10,000 for the Hyacinth, without the latter perceptibly gaining on the Minerva. Radius of action so far as coal was concerned at 7,000 horse-power, was for the Hyacinth, 2,380 miles, and for the Minerva, 3,000 miles.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Roman Catholic Dignitary Arrives in New York From Rome.

New York, Aug. 24.—Cardinal Gibbons arrived today on the steamship Stouria. He was warmly greeted when he came ashore. "I had the great pleasure," Cardinal Gibbons said, "of having three audiences with the Pope. The last one was on June 20. He is certainly a wonderful man. He is feeble, but his vigor of a man 60 years old. His mental faculties are not impaired and he is remarkably well informed on what is going on in the world. In England, Ireland and in the other countries I visited I was certainly well received, and I have had profitable time abroad."

Cardinal Gibbons will be given a public reception in Baltimore on Monday.

Comments In France

United States Accused of Exaggerating Trouble Between Venezuela and Colombia.

So That Excuse Can be Made For Seizing the Isthmus of Panama.

Revolutionists Are Threatening to Attack Bocas del Toro and Cocle.

Paris, Aug. 24.—The French press has not been giving much attention editorially to the Venezuelan-Colombian question, but what comment has been made has on the whole been adverse to the United States, which is accused of exaggerating facts in order to have an excuse to intervene and seize the Isthmus of Panama and the canal.

The correspondent of the Associated Press received from a well-informed source the information that the French government has not yet considered the contingencies which may arise if the United States intervenes, nor has any exchange of views with the European chancellors on the subject taken place or been suggested. So far as France is concerned, she does not contemplate any step beyond that already taken, of sending a warship to protect the lives and property of her subjects on the Isthmus. The government has not received any news from its representatives in Central America concerning the troubles there until a day or two ago. As they came by mail they relate to events several weeks old and fail to give a clear idea of what is taking place. But it is certain that there was nothing calculated to cause alarm for the safety of French interests.

Cocle, Colombia, Aug. 24.—A steam launch, the Sunrise, belonging to a fruit company, has just sailed for Bocas del Toro with fifty government soldiers on board. The rebels are threatening Bocas del Toro and Cocle. They are both banana towns, in which the fruit company and other concerns are largely interested.

LEADLY MOSQUITO.

New Jersey Lady Catches Yellow Fever from Cuban Insect.

Havana, Aug. 24.—The third death from yellow fever resulting from the bite of a mosquito occurred this evening. The victim was Miss Clara Max, of New Jersey. Those deaths occurred on the seventh day after she was taken ill. Of the six persons bitten recently in the course of the yellow fever commissions, experiments, three have died, and the doctors say the other three are suffering from light attacks of the disease. Miss Max was a nurse, and wished to become immune.

BIRMGHAM YOUNG'S WIDOW.

First Wife of the Mormon Prophet Being Taken Home to Die.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Seina Young, first wife of the late Brigham Young, passed through Helena today en route to Salt Lake City. She sustained a stroke of paralysis yesterday at the home of her daughter, near the Canadian border, and her last request before losing consciousness was that she be taken to her old home at Salt Lake to die. She is nearly 70 years of age, and for more than 40 years has been prominent in the Mormon church.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

Postmaster-General Wants It Done by Way of Atlantic Coast.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Hon. Mr. Mulock, in an interview, says it is necessary for the Australian trade that Canada send shipments from Atlantic, hand-carrying by no haul across the continent. It wanted a sailing summer fleet from Montreal, calling at Quebec, St. John, and Halifax, reaching Adelaide first, then Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane. He thinks the vessels could get return cargoes of sugar from Queensland.

THE PRAIRIE CAPITAL.

Winnipeg Is Erecting Many Buildings This Season.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Buildings to the value of $2,100,000 will be erected in Winnipeg during the present year.

Manotik, an Italian, attempted suicide by hanging in Portage jail, but was cut down in time by the officials.

Delegates are already assembling for the 24th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association, which meets here next week.

ARKANSAS KILLING.

One Man Killed the Other Badly Wounded as Result of Dispute.

Eureka Springs, Ark., Aug. 24.—James Kiser, a former policeman, was shot to death last night by Dr. L. D. Fuller, whom he attacked on Main street. Kiser felled the physician by a blow from behind and then kicked the prostrate man in the head. Dr. Fuller regained his feet and shot Kiser to death. Dr. Fuller is perhaps fatally hurt. The tragedy grew out of a dispute.

WESTMINSTER CHOIR.

Singers from the Famous Abbey Visiting Canada.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Singers of the Westminster Abbey choir, who are about to make a flying trip through Canada, arrived here this morning by the Canadian Pacific. The party are all members of the choir, which will sing at King Edward's coronation next year. Six are lay vicars at the Abbey. They appear in the leading Canadian cities.

SALMON.

Sockeyes Yet Running Forty to Boat on the Fraser.

Vancouver, Aug. 24.—(Special).—On the Fraser river sockeyes are still running about 40 to the boat. As there are now only 100,000 cases to put up before the limit of the pack, one million cases, is reached, a full pack is certain. Sockeyes are gone from the Sound and the Fraser is getting the tail end of the run.

Victims of Shipwreck

Funerals of Some of Those Who Lost Their Lives Take Place Today.

Life Belts Were Upon All the Bodies Recovered—Juneau's Generosity.

Today three of the victims of the Islander disaster will be carried to their last resting place in Ross Bay cemetery. The funeral of the late Mrs. J. H. Ross and her little child will take place at 2 p.m. after noon from the residence of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McKay, No. 4 Battery street, and the funeral of the late Capt. Hamilton R. Foote will take place from his late residence, the corner of Cathedral avenue and Cook street, at 2 p.m., and from Christ Church cathedral, where the burial service will be read at 2:30 p.m. The remains of the late Mr. John A. Duncan will not be carried to the cemetery until Tuesday afternoon, when the funeral will leave his late residence on Fort street, at 2:30 p.m., and St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at 3 p.m. Two bodies of the deceased were on their way here, and the funeral was arranged on the receipt of telegraphic advice from one of them, Rev. W. A. Duncan, dated at Spokane, Dr. George A. Duncan is also en route out from Dawson.

The burial services received by the families of the victims of the sad accident are very numerous. One of the wreaths taken to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McKay, which is sent by the men of the Northwest Mounted Police, and Dawson, is nearly six feet in diameter, and many hundreds of flowers have been used in the making of the big wreath, with its large cross in the center. Large wreaths have also been sent by the officers of the Northwest Mounted Police, and officials of the various departments at Dawson.

THE STOWAWAYS.

Differences of Opinion Regarding the Number Reported to Have Been On the Steamer.

A difference of opinion prevails regarding the number of persons who were on board the steamer when the accident occurred. As the Islander had not been long out from Skagway it is hard to estimate how many there were. Capt. Perry, quartermaster of the lost steamer, has said that he believes that there were eleven unfortunate stowaways, who went down with the steamer, and from another source it has been stated that there were four. The real number of them is probably never known. One of the firemen, who declined to give his name, said yesterday that he knew of two stowaways having been on board, and although he cannot say whether there were more or not, he believes that there were no others. One of these two was in the forward bunker and another was aft, and neither were locked in the bunkers when the steamer went down, for he saw one of the men come out of them out from the bow of the steamer, and the other was in the fire room before the accident, and ran up on deck when the bell rang to stop her. He was saved, for the fireman saw him leave the bow of the steamer at Vancouver. The other was not seen after the wreck, and is believed to have been drowned.

TO SAVE TREASURE.

Vancouver Diver Announces That He Will Go Down and Try and Recover the Gold.

A special despatch to the Colonist from Vancouver says that Diver Moore, of that city, announces that if the Islander is not in water over 25 fathoms deep he will try to recover the treasure that went down with her. The estimate of the value of the gold is about $100,000, and it is known that two lots of $50,000 each went down in the safe, and other parcels of gold are thought to have gone down. The first estimates of the treasure on board were given at $275,000, but others come forward with the opinion that there was as much as $400,000 on board.

ALL HAD LIFE BELTS.

Bodies Recovered Were All Encircled by Life-Belt Preservers.

Every one of the 14 bodies recovered had life-preservers on. This is an important fact in the case, as the stories of several who have been talking since returning from the North are to the effect that there were no life belts on the bodies when they were thrown up by the waves.

This is not the case, as the body of Capt. Foote had a life belt properly adjusted on it when found. So too had that of Mrs. Ross, and the little nine-months old infant had a life belt on.

There is a report from Skagway, which is credited by passengers who arrived from the North, to the effect that the bodies which were washed up on the beach before less hurried hands found and tenderly cared for them. The Skagway papers publish full reports of the alleged crimes.

Injuries are given, accompanied by the names, where the bodies were found with pockets turned inside out and rifled. One body, which had been evidently molested and robbed, still had a sack of 50 ounces on it, which the robbers, in their haste, had overlooked.

GENEROUS JUNEAU.

Practical Sympathy to Islander Victims by Juneau Residents.

A Monk, a Canadian barrister, in an interview given to the Skagway News, says: "The magnificent generosity of Juneau people was the only ray of light in the gloom. Before the bodies had reached Juneau with us saved, everything had been prepared for them. As soon as they had been fed, merchants took them to their stores and clothed them in many passengers were only partly dressed. Nothing was spared for their comfort."

The news of the disaster was brought to Treadwell at 8:30 a.m., by a party of passengers, headed by the Canon Treadwell, who walked up to the beach to appeal to the city for help. The Treadwell steamer Lucy and the Juneau steamer Flossie responded promptly. The Flossie returned from the scene of the wreck at 12 o'clock, with her flag at half-mast, carrying the remains of six bodies on board.

United States Collector of Customs Andrews, of Skagway, gave Dr. Cameron,

At the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Campbell, pastor, there will be services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The services at the Northwest Mounted Police, and Dawson, is nearly six feet in diameter, and many hundreds of flowers have been used in the making of the big wreath, with its large cross in the center. Large wreaths have also been sent by the officers of the Northwest Mounted Police, and officials of the various departments at Dawson.

Much of the Islander's cabin and dining room tables and furniture were found on the beach near the wreck. Much stuff has also been found scattered many miles away. It is clear that the interior of the house portion of the ship was burst open by the explosion of the boiler, and that the water which was on board was forced out when the vessel took the last plunge.

Even a grip, which had been left in the cabin of the Islander, was found on the beach after the wreck. Among the passengers of the Islander were Customs Inspector A. J. Walker and wife, who were both saved. They were separated on the deck of the steamer, and came ashore in different boats, each believing the other to be lost. Walker walked in one direction along the beach waiting for the waves to bring his wife's body ashore while she walked in an opposite direction seeking for him. Soon they both turned and walked back toward the common starting point. Just about when they had given up all hope of ever seeing one another again they met.

Injuries are still being made from various parts in regard to those on the Islander. Yesterday Mr. B. W. Greer, local agent of the C. P. R., was asked by telegraph from Los Angeles if Stephen Billey was a passenger, and replied negatively. Portland came enquires regard P. Zahn and wife, and a reply was sent telling of their escape from the wreck.

Among the arrivals by the Majestic last night was Mrs. Fred. Rekeate, of Portland, widow of one of the victims of the Islander disaster. She was accompanied by Mrs. Fenstall of Portland. Mrs. Minnie Ross, whose body was brought down on the Hating to be shipped to California, was a resident of Los Angeles, who with her husband had been keeping a boarding house on Hunter Creek, and were bound thence to Los Angeles. They were standing on the stern of the Islander when she was struck, and jumped overboard from the stern of the steamer as she went down. The water was almost to their feet when they left the steamer. Both were life preservers. As they struck the water, their hands which were clasped, came apart, and after a few minutes reached the surface he could see no sign of his wife. He climbed on a piece of wreckage, and was rescued by one of the boats. He did not see his wife again until the dead body was washed ashore.

The late Mrs. J. H. Ross was 57 years of age, and a native of Prince Edward Island. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her loss. The eldest child is twelve years of age. It was the youngest she was bringing with her, and whose remains will be buried with her today.

H. F. Bishop, the purser, and the agent at Skagway compared their lists before the Hating left, and the list of passengers that has been given is found to be as correct as could be learned.

FIRES ON CODY CREEK.

Noble Five Flume Threatened—Fore of Men Fighting Flames.

Sandon, Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Forest fires up Cody creek are threatening to destroy the Noble Five flume, and a large force of men from here have gone to the scene to fight the flames. It is barely possible that the flume can be saved, and should it be destroyed the consequent closing down of the Noble Five compressor plant will seriously interfere with operations at the Noble Five and Last Chance mines.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected. The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a mischievous disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

YES, THEY ARE GOOD! Is what every man says with each puff of a Province Cigar Co.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET. 50 Johnson Street, Johnson Street Tel. 621. Government St. Branch Tel. 318.

STRIKE SETTLED. San Francisco Structural Iron Workers and Employers Agree.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—The strike of the structural iron workers here has been settled. The employers agreed to give the men a nine-hour work day inside the shops and an eight-hour day for outside work, with no reduction in pay. The painters' strike has been settled by arbitration in favor of the strikers. They are to receive $8.50 a day for eight hours work.

TURKEY BACKS DOWN. French Demands Granted by Sultan Under Pressure.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—The Quays Company question has been settled, as expected, in accordance with the desire of France. An Imperial decree has been issued ordering that the company shall be allowed to exercise freely all the rights granted by the concession.

Turkey has yielded to French pressure in the matter of the Quays Company. In consequence of the declaration made to the Porte by the French ambassador that he acts under instructions from the minister of foreign affairs, an Imperial decree has been issued declaring that no obstacle shall be imposed to the free exercise by the Quays Company of the rights resulting from the concession.

A firm for the settlement of the other matters in question, it is believed, has been reached shortly.

The foreign officials do not conceal their delight at the settlement of the Turkish difficulty. During the last few days it was evident that some anxiety was felt lest the affair might mar the festivities of the occasion of the Czar's visit. A correspondent of the Associated Press learns that M. Constant's despatch was very brief, but it leaves no doubt that the Sultan has yielded to that was wanted in the matter of quays by issuing an irade recognizing the full rights claimed by the French company to extend its operations, buy land and start ferries, also removing the numerous restrictions hitherto imposed by customs and police officials. This not only ends the dispute but also ends all question of purchase of the company's concession by the Porte at the present time.

In regard to other French claims, as their amount has been admitted by Turkey, the negotiations will turn on the manner of payment. It is believed this will be arranged very quickly.

If nothing happened to avert the event, George O'Brien, murderer of Clayton, Kelce, W. Clayton and Oleason, a Canadian line man, on the Dawson trail, paid the penalty of his crime on Friday morning. The Yukon Sun of August 10 prints the following telegram which was received by the Sheriff at Dawson: Via Bennett, August 3, 1901. Ottawa, Ont., July 31.

The Sheriff, Yukon: His Excellency the Governor-General has thought fit to order that the law be allowed to take its course in the case of Geo. O'Brien under sentence of death. To be executed on Friday, 23rd day of August, inst. Wire back this telegram, which I will confirm by letter. P. PELLETIER, Act. Under Sec. State.

Via Bennett, August 3, 1901.

R. J. Ellibek, Sheriff: I assume you will immediately prepare to execute sentence on O'Brien. Report to me at once when arrangements have been completed. Acknowledge receipt of this telegram promptly. R. W. SCOTT, Sec. State.

Immediately upon receipt of the above telegram, says the same paper, the sheriff proceeded to the cell of the doomed man. The sheriff seemed to be more affected than the prisoner, and read the above telegram to him in the presence of Superintendent Primrose and the jail surgeon, being interrupted frequently, however, by wild exclamations from the prisoner, who evidently desired to impress his audience with the idea of his insanity.

"The truth is," says a prominent official, who is in daily contact with the murderer, "that O'Brien in an arrogant and now that he is sentenced to death, he realizes that he must pay the penalty of his crime, he has simply worked himself into a frenzy of fear. O'Brien is no more insane today than he was when he deliberately shot and killed the men from ambush, and finished up his work by despatching them as they writhed in blood. Why, only the other day he simulated madness and refused punishment, crying out that he was innocent, and that he was innocent of the crime. He was brought and as he continued contumacious, he was put under restraint, and he immediately weakened, and said, 'I'll drink it, which he did without further protest.' So on the day of his execution, he now carefully watched and confined in iron.

TWO PRESENTATIONS.

Rector and Organist of St. Luke's Church Presented With Addresses.

On Friday evening a large congregation assembled at St. Luke's church, Cedar Hill, to hear the cantata, "The Rolling Seasons," rendered by the choir of this beautifully situated little parish church. At the invitation of the ladies of the parish, those present adjourned to the Sunday school room, where tea, coffee and cake were served, and spent a short time in social intercourse.

To the evident surprise of the rector, the assembly was called to order by the representative of the people of St. Luke's, Mr. F. W. Blankenbach, who in a few words announced the object of their gathering there that evening, and asked Mrs. Beale to read an address and present a purse, with its contents of gold, to Miss Groves, who during her sojourn in the parish had so ably and voluntarily presided at the organ.

The rector replied on her behalf. Mr. F. W. Blankenbach then came forward on behalf of the parishioners of St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, St. Michael's Lake and Colquitz, read the address to the Rev. J. W. Flinton, and handed him a purse containing a handsome sum in gold.

The Rev. J. W. Flinton, quite overcome with emotion, thanked the parishioners for their kindness. The addresses, which were beautifully illuminated, and the work of willing hands, were executed by two of the parishioners, Miss Beale and Mr. E. W. Beale, of Cadboro Bay.

The churchwardens of St. Luke's are indebted to Miss J. L. Flinton, of Colquitz, Miss Parks, of Lake, and Messrs. Daniels and Hopkins, of Colquitz, for their assistance in getting together these tokens of esteem.

REUNION AT DUNCAN.

The reunion of the I. O. G. T. at Duncan yesterday afternoon attracted between two hundred and three hundred people from Victoria, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Extension and other "up the line" points. The representation from Victoria was not as large as was expected, but the other points were well represented. The Ladysmith contingent brought with them the Ladysmith Silver Cornet band, which played during the afternoon. Street concerts were given in front of the hotels, and at the station. A number of addresses were delivered by prominent members of the order. Dr. Lewis Hall of this city, chief temple, spoke on the views, objects and benefits of the order; Past Grand Chief Templar Rev. A. Green of Vancouver spoke on the same subject, and with a similar subject for his part, Rev. M. W. Anscombe of Nanaimo, delivered an address. For the benefit of some Finlanders who were included in the gathering, an address was given in that tongue by a prominent Finlander of the order.

A programme of sports were held, and the younger people caused much enjoyment in their struggles for the first place in foot races, three-legged races, etc., and during the afternoon a baseball match was played between nines from the Victoria and Ladysmith, the victory falling to the players from the Coal City, who won by a score of eleven to six. At 6 p. m. the trains left Duncan carrying the different contingents of Good Templars to their several homes.

Census of The Yukon

Enumerators Have Left Dawson to Count Noses in Klondike.

The Census of the Floating Population Will be Taken in One Day.

Major H. J. Woodside, commissioner for taking the census of Yukon Territory, will commence active operations today for enumerating the more remote districts, says the Yukon Sun of August 16. The special instructions from Ottawa have not yet been received, but as the season is growing late and the work will take considerable time, Major Woodside has decided to go ahead and concentrate the work upon the rural population centres as rapidly as possible. The enumeration of Dawson and the Klondike creeks will probably begin on September 1, but the late arrival of instructions may require a postponement of this work until a week later.

This evening Major Woodside, Robert Henderson and Mr. Forbes will leave on the steamer Prospector for Pelly River. Upon their arrival at the farthest point the steamer will proceed up that stream, Messrs. Henderson and Forbes will push onward in a Peterborough canoe, going up either the main stream or the McMillan, as the circumstances at the time seem to warrant. No matter which branch they select they will proceed to its extreme head, enumerate all the inhabitants who can be found, both white and Indian, and then work gradually back to the confluence with the other branch. On the Pelly proper they will proceed clear to the Pelly lakes, lying several hundred miles up in the shadow of the Rockies, and then work gradually back to Fort Reliance. They will be absent two months. Robert Henderson is well known throughout the country as an expert river man. He is the discoverer of the Klondike gold fields.

On his return Major Woodside will send two men up the Stewart to its headwaters, working on the same plan as the Pelly enumerators. One man will also go up the McQuesten and a resident enumerator will be appointed for the Clear Creek district. Later on two men are to be sent up the Klondike. That portion of the Porcupine lying in Canadian territory is a more difficult proposition to handle, but Major Woodside has practically decided to send a man there. The enumerator will proceed by steamer to Fort Yukon and engage Indians to pole him 200 miles up the river to Rampart House, a Hudson's Bay post, where he will make his headquarters while making the count. There are said to be about 100 inhabitants in the Canadian Porcupine.

In a few days Major Woodside will go to Forty-Mile to lay out the work there. An enumerator will also be sent into the Sixty-Mile district. The census commissioner will then make a trip up the Yukon, arranging for the counting of the Indians and the other points along the river, as the Big Salmon has become quite a populous district, a man will be sent up that stream. At White Horse plans will be completed to enumerate that section and district traversed by the Yukon river. In taking the steamers, their passengers and crews, Major Woodside has concluded to have this work done in one day, so as to avoid repetitions or possible omissions. It is estimated that there is a floating population of 800 souls on the Yukon every day.

Speaking of his proposed appointments, Major Woodside said: "It is my intention to select only competent and experienced river men, who will be able to make the best time and do the most thorough work possible. They will also be men of sufficient education to make the enumeration and prepare the forms in the proper manner. The count for Dawson and the creeks will be made simultaneously, commencing September 1 or about a week thereafter."

GARDEN FETE.

Arrangements for the garden fete to be held on Thursday next from 3 to 10 p.m. in the grounds of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, are complete. The fete will be opened by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Joly, and a large attendance of all friends anxious to show their interest in the work carried on at the hospital is promised. The band of the Fifth Regiment has kindly offered its services, and the Cecilia orchestra will discourse sweet music on the tea lawn. Several articles of booths have been undertaken by volunteer bands, including flowers and ice cream will be under the special care of the Daughters of Pity.

Members and friends are asked to send in donations of either cake, sand, flowers, candy, ice cream, flowers, and buttonholes, before noon on Thursday, to the hospital, or to care of Mrs. Henry Clay, confectioner, Fort Street, where they will be called for.

Half-Price Neckwear

At the end of each season's selling neckwear manufacturers find themselves crowded with short and sample ends of silks. To clean up the stock they usually make these silks into ties, being but few of a kind they're willing to sell them at a loss. We were fortunate in securing about 40 dozen of these odd neckties from Canada's leading neckwear maker. They are all of the very best quality, conscientiously made and worth from 50 cents to 75 cents each. You may have your choice from the lot for 25 cents each. See samples in our East window.

THE WEATHER.

Meteorological Office, Victoria, Aug. 21-8 p. m.
High barometer areas still hold their position on the coast from California to the coast of Alaska, and from the Rockies eastward to the Lakes, and between these areas a depression of atmospheric pressure of some depth extends from the Gulf of California through the centre of the North Pacific States. These conditions have caused partly cloudy weather and fresh winds in this vicinity. Except a light shower at Port Arthur, no rainfall has been reported today. The Pacific slope and the Northwest with moderate temperatures except in the valleys of the Thompson and in the upper levels of Eastern Oregon, where calm weather prevails.

The Stewart River District

There Are Now Over Six Hundred Miners at Work In That Section.

Half a Million Dollars Taken Out This Season—Many New Finds.

According to advices received from Dawson by the Hating, considerable mining development is being done on the Stewart river. The tributaries this summer. There are in round numbers over 600 men engaged, 230 of them being on the main river, Clear and Haggard creeks; an equal number is employed along the main river to Fraser Falls, and about 150 beyond the Falls, on the two main forks. Good prospects are reported to have been discovered on several new streams that promise development of the most gratifying character, and it is thought that on the south fork some important strikes have been made.

J. A. Cameron, a well known Klondike miner, has made a trip along the Stewart, going as far as the Falls, says that he met several parties who reported strikes recently made along small creeks and says there are between 60 and 75 men working on the heads of bars along the main stream. They are taking out $1 to $2 per day, and are looking for a big strike.

Gold has been rocked out of these bars since 1886 and it was a somewhat noted stream before Forty-five years ago. They never paid very big but have been worked every summer by a large number of men and have always been looked upon as a safe "grub-stake" proposition. On account of the extreme fineness of the gold, quicksilver is used to catch it in the rocker bed.

Two men a week ago made a fair strike on a small stream flowing in about twelve miles above the Falls, on the right limit. The discovery is located about five miles from the Stewart proper, and it yielded seventy cents to the pan, bedrock being struck at a depth of five feet. The creek was all staked when Mr. Cameron visited it.

Some years later King Kabarega, of Ungoro, and King Mwanja, of Uganda, took advantage of the revolt of the Sudanese troops to join with them in the attempt to overthrow the British protectorate, but they were completely defeated by a British force under Lieut. Col. J. E. E. The Sudanese mutiny entailed very heavy expenditure, and delayed for some years the complete organization of the local administration of Uganda. When Sir H. H. Johnston arrived on the scene at the close of 1890, however, he found the country ripe for this work, as well as for the settlement of the land question and the institution of native taxation. In connection with the Special Commissioner remarks: "The comparative ease with which this organization and reorganization was effected must not be held to convey any surmise on the work of the protectorate, and who were obliged to face difficulties which in my time had completely disappeared, difficulties—attending difficulties of transport, wars with an obstinate and wily enemy (Kabarega), and the sudden refusal of Mwanja to co-operate in the establishment of a good system of native government. Under these circumstances I am chary of suggesting estimates of the work which the Uganda administration could have been foreseen or avoided by the civil and military officers in command."

THE COST OF UGANDA.
One result of the Sudanese revolt and disturbances in the country was the gradual substitution of a military for a civil administration which, Sir H. H. Johnston says he cannot help feeling, had a bad effect. Making a rough computation, he estimates that our outlay in Uganda since 1894 have cost us £1,334,000 for administration and wars for the protection of the country, and £4,900,000 for the construction of the Uganda railway. With this outlay, he asks, is there for this outlay. In his opinion, the power which holds Uganda might, by means of simple engineering works, withhold the main source of the Nile, and our colonies would be reduced to a British controlled a large portion of East Africa. He adds: "I firmly believe that before many years are over the country will produce a local revenue sufficient to defray the British taxpayer's obligation to provide further funds for the protection and development of Uganda. I hope, in addition, that Uganda may develop such wealth that it will be enabled in time to pay off its debt, and to justify the action of the statesmen of 1890 and 1894 who brought it within range of the British Empire."

After describing the great natural resources of the country, Sir H. H. Johnston says that nothing has tended to bring about friendlier relations between the administration and the native population than the adjustment of the land question. He also remarks: "The natives are far happier and much better off materially and morally by the establishment of British control over their destinies, and this will remain true so long as the first aim of the Uganda administration is to relieve the native of the burden of the land question. In their turn, however, the natives must meet us by taking up their burden and furnishing that share of the revenue which is adjusted to their means. Even this moon tax is a considerable sum, and the amount of property they were formerly accustomed to give or to lose when wholly at the mercy of the chiefs, or of conquerors of negro race. No one can be so cruel to the negro as the negro."

THE WORK OF THE COMMISSION.
He sums up the work with which his special commission was concerned as follows: "The estimated local revenue has risen since 1899 from an estimated £23,000 to £33,000, but the actual local revenue received during the financial year ended March 31, 1901, was over £60,000, thus leaving us with a surplus of about £33,000 with which either to pay off any small sums still due to us to the government of India on account of the 27th Bombay revenue, which was sent to Uganda during the mutiny, or, in the event of no such sums being still owing, to be carried on as a contribution towards the grant-in-aid for next year's expenditure."

Among other things he states that the collection of revenue has been placed on a thoroughly good footing, that the postal and telegraph services have been effectively organized, that new roads and railways have been constructed, that the armed forces of the protectorate are now in a satisfactory condition, and that large collections have been made in anthropology, zoology, botany and mineralogy, and sent to the British Museum, South Kensington, and Kew Gardens.

In closing his long and interesting report, Sir H. H. Johnston thanks Col. Coles and Lieut. Col. J. E. E. for the able manner in which they had assisted to reorganize the forces of the protectorate, and adds: "I desire to select for special mention the following names: That of Mr. F. J.

Protectorate Of Uganda

Sir H. H. Johnston's Report on Important Part of Dark Continent.

Favorable State of Affairs Is Brought About By the Commission.

From London Chronicle.

Sir H. H. Johnston's general report, as special commissioner on the protectorate of Uganda, was published yesterday (July 25) as a parliamentary paper. After sketching the early history of the country from 1862 (when it was brought to the knowledge of the world outside Africa by an expedition under the celebrated explorer, Speke), and the Anglo-German agreement passed in 1894, Sir H. H. Johnston says that the Imperial government sent out Sir Gerald Portal to report on the internal affairs of the country. The result of his report was published yesterday, and declared in 1894, which protectorate was extended in later years until it comprised the six provinces now included within its limits.

THE SUDANESE MUTINY.
Some years later King Kabarega, of Ungoro, and King Mwanja, of Uganda, took advantage of the revolt of the Sudanese troops to join with them in the attempt to overthrow the British protectorate, but they were completely defeated by a British force under Lieut. Col. J. E. E. The Sudanese mutiny entailed very heavy expenditure, and delayed for some years the complete organization of the local administration of Uganda. When Sir H. H. Jackson, C.B., deputy commissioner and consul for the Uganda protectorate; and Mr. J. J. Cunningham, the secretary of the Uganda administration, originally appointed as secretary to my special commission. I cannot speak too highly of the way in which these colleagues have assisted me in my mission, and of the favorable results that may have been attained by my special commission.

Mr. Jackson, as the foreign office is aware, has worked in Uganda on behalf of company and government since 1890, and he has won the confidence and respect of the missionaries and European soldiers who have rendered his presence in the country of the highest importance to the British administration of Uganda. Mr. Cunningham has worked with me in British Central Africa and Uganda since 1892, and to his participation in my researches and experiments, to his diligent assistance I owe more than it is easy to describe in a general review of this nature. I should like to add in conclusion that the administration of Uganda is severely indebted to Capt. Dugmore, D. S. O., for good work done to the Nile during a year's trying period before communications were opened up with Khartoum; and to Mr. Harold H. Baker for his treatment of very difficult native questions in the Suk and Baring districts.

THE NEWS OF ATLIN DISTRICT

Large Mining Sale on Pine Creek—Mineral Exhibit For Victoria.

Atlin, B. C., Aug. 15.—Messrs. Miller and Co., of Atlin, have sold the whole of their valuable property on the above creek to Mr. F. T. Blunck of the Sunrise Hydraulic Mining Co. The price has not been ascertained. Mr. Blunck has also purchased the rich beds of claims on Pine creek belonging to Messrs. Harrigan and Sabine, the latter property adjoins the Discovery claim, and forms a valuable and extensive addition to the ground already owned by him. The Sunrise Company has had a great deal of trouble and worry this season over the question of water privileges for working out ground which they had taken on lay from individual owners, but it is hoped that the worst of their difficulties have now ceased, and that the departure of the Judge today will be the signal for the monitors and pipes to again become active. Mr. Cappelle, of the Atlin, has paid a second visit to the district, being accompanied by Mr. O'Meara, M. E. of Butte, Montana. They again visited the Lavender copper property, and I understand have agreed to purchase the claims at the vendors' price. As only one claim in the other half of the ledge is yet in sight, Mr. Cappelle is employing the Lavender Bros. at his own expense to prosecute further work upon the property, with the object of determining the position of the vein and ascertaining the extreme width of the ledge. Great satisfaction is felt at the probability of this sale now being consummated, for should it be finally effected, a smelter would be erected, and the employment of many men would be guaranteed; moreover, it would have a marked effect upon quartz properties in this camp in general.

Mumors of another copper find about 20 miles from the one above referred to, has put the writer has seen samples of the ore, which are very rich in copper, and the ledge is about five feet in width.

In connection with this subject, I may mention that an effort is being made to tell you for an Atlin mineral exhibit to be displayed at Victoria during the time of the royal visit this fall. Mrs. Hitechock and Mr. A. C. Hirschfeld are interesting themselves to form a representative collection of samples of ore from the many quartz properties in the district; the White Pass and Yukon Railway have kindly promised free carriage to Victoria of all exhibits and samples.

Judgments were rendered today in several cases that have been tried before the Chief Justice the last week. The decision in the Yellow Jacket case McCawley vs. Hamilton, will be given in Victoria.

Most Splendid Pauper on Earth

If You Think Mr Hooley's Failure Crushed Him Read This.

As Spick And Span And Confident of Success As Ever He Was.

London, Aug. 15.—Interested as scientists of to-day are in the subjects of hypnotism, hallucination and clairvoyance, it is odd that a committee of them is not sitting just now upon Ernest Terah Hooley, magician of finance. The law has tried to sit on him, and creditors have tried to sit on him, and it was like sitting on a rubber ball. So it's a committee on hypnotism that is wanted now to investigate Mr. Hooley.

Perhaps it is suggested in Canada that after Mr. Hooley failed for $5,000,000 three years ago he was grubbing away in obscurity somewhere, trying to get himself forgotten, living in poverty, looking back sadly to the days when he had all manner of powers on his private list, and the world of finance at his feet, the grateful thanks of the Queen for a gift of $2,000,000 to the poor engraved on his memory, and a baronetage in sight.

That isn't Mr. Hooley at all. Although he is not yet discharged from his bankruptcy, and so far has paid only ten cents on the dollar, he is living, by his own admission, at the rate of $200,000 a year, or $200 a day. He has the biggest and best suite of rooms on the first floor of a fashionable hotel, for use merely as offices. He has a magnificent estate in Cambridgeshire, to which he retires for the week-ends, and on which he is spending vast sums for improvements. He has, furthermore—and this is where the hypnotism comes in—the unbounded confidence of most of his creditors, based mainly on a Siberian mining concession which the Russian finance minister has repudiated.

The story of his doings since what he calls his "misfortune" is more wonderful, if anything, than the story of his sudden rise from the office of a Nottingham broker to greater heights of wealth, power and fame than poor Ramsey Barnato ever reached. It proved more effectively than his first flight that he is a genuine genius, with gifts that can't be accounted for by ordinary common sense. He has been steadily on the summit of obstacles seemingly insurmountable, and he is likely to spring a scheme at any time that will definitely land him on high again. He says he has two or three big things on in addition to the wonderfully big Siberian Gold Fields Development Company, which is engaging his attention just at present.

It is also engaging the attention of the courts and of such creditors as have not come within the sphere of Mr. Hooley's hypnotic influence. In addition, the Board of Trade is reported to be pondering the Hooley phenomenon; and it is believed that in its own good time, after a pause sufficient to refute any charge of undue haste, it will bring forth a plan of bankruptcy reform which shall discourage any future Mr. Hooley from living in regal magnificence while his creditors are in want.

At any rate, the present Mr. Hooley is seen to be led from again, either in the stock market or legal proceedings, or both, and is therefore worth observing.

You can see him walking down Piccadilly almost any day. The last time I saw him it was a joy to feast the eye upon him—brown derby hat, brown cut-away coat with trousers to match, brown shoes, brown beard, brown gloves. Even his complexion was sun-browned to the same tint. There was a report at the time that he was ill and broken down and losing his nerve. Anyone who believed that report ought to have seen this blythe, jaunty figure on Piccadilly, broad-shouldered, full-chested and with an easy, springy step that an athlete might have envied. Mr. Hooley and every such a millionaire. No creditor could see him without restored confidence.

At a meeting of Mr. Hooley's fellow-sufferers the other day over the remains of some of the old creditors, Mr. Hooley dealt, the great hypnotist sat up where everyone could see him, and dominated the meeting. One poor old man, in the bitterness of adversity, rose and ventured to protest feebly at one stage of the proceedings.

"My dear sir," said Mr. Hooley, interrupting him, "I shall pay you in full. You'll get back every golden sovereign you have put in."

He was so confident and joyous about it, and there was something dazzling in the light of his eye, that the wrinkles in the old creditor's face smoothed out. He smiled feebly, mumbled gratefully, "Thank you, sir," and sat down happier than he had been for three years.

Clerk offices are not good enough for Mr. Hooley. Before his "misfortune" he had a great suite of rooms at the Midland Grand Hotel, far away from Throgmorton Street, and used to keep desks, state-stands and millions of books in their beds in the inter-rooms, waiting to see him for "just a minute." The base of his present operations is the more fashionable Walsingham Hotel, across Piccadilly from the Duke of Devonshire's house. This is the hotel of which Louis Sherry is about to take possession, coming over from New York to run it, after it is enlarged and remodelled, with the idea of giving Londoners a chance to see what an American hotel is like.

The Walsingham's chief tenant is more exclusive than he used to be, and unless you can give satisfactory proof that there is "money in you," it is about as hard to get into the sanctum in person as it is to get into the room in the Treasury in which Sir Michael Hicks-Beach conceals protective tariffs for free trade England. The hotel people are likewise uncommunicative about the ways and works of Mr. Hooley. The host man himself, however, has supplied all the information necessary. "It is true," he said, "that I am living at the rate of £15,000 a year, and it is to the advantage of my creditors. I rent, this suite of rooms so that I can do business in proper surroundings. You must spend money to make money. When I became bankrupt, I gave up everything I possessed for my creditors. Now I am earning money to repay them. I have already repaid a hundred of them; their debts have been assigned."

This spectacle of Mr. Hooley's struggle in the face of adversity becomes still more impressive when you accompany him in spirit to Papworth Hall in Cambridgeshire. Here we observe the rewards of generosity. Mr. Hooley said in his public examination after his failure that he had presented to a partner a house that cost a quarter of a million dollars, and that in 1895 and 1896 he had given him the same sum or two million dollars in profits. Other great benefactions of his were famous at the time. Very well; when the great crash came and the unhappy Hooley tumbled from his throne—or at least vacated it for the time being—some kind friends of his (names not given) promptly bought the splendid Cambridgeshire mansion called Papworth Hall, in which the Hooleys had lived before the collapse, and gave it to Mrs. Hooley. The place cost $225,000, and according to Mr. Hooley's own evidence in court last June, a tidy little gift in money must have gone with it.

"And your wife had £65,000 worth of property given to her!" exclaimed the lawyer who was conducting the cross-examination. "As much again as that," said Mr. Hooley, imperturbably. "Not one penny settled on her by you?"

"No."

"The title is quite unassailable?"

"Quite."

"The effect of your bankruptcy upon you has been, I suppose, practically nil. You live at Papworth in the same state as you did before?"

"I have had that to do with you?"

"Be careful."

"I am careful."

"You live at Papworth in the same state as before your bankruptcy?"

"Who told you that? You would like to live there?"

"You must not be impertinent."

"You won't, either."

"You still live at Papworth in the same state and affluence that you lived before the bankruptcy? Yes or no is the answer."

"Must I answer that, my lord?" said Mr. Hooley, turning irritably to the judge.

"Answer the question," said the judge.

But Mr. Hooley absolutely declined to do so, and the question was finally dropped. A friend of Mr. Hooley's, however, said that he had been unable to see any difference in the style of life which Papworth afforded his occupant, ceased to be a multi-millionaire, and gave every penny he had to his creditors.

Papworth Hall is a magnificent old mansion that many a duke would envy. It stands on an estate stretching out for ten miles to the sea, and as choice as any in England. The tenant is adding continually to the estate, and in addition to splendid crops he has gone in for stock-breeding on an elaborate scale. In his season he is a swarm of servants. Mr. Hooley himself says he pays £25,000 a year in agricultural wages. The employees, like everyone else who comes within the magician's sphere of influence, have unlimited confidence in his ability to achieve anything he wishes. They are lucky mortals, for they have uncommonly attractive villas provided for them, rent free, the only conditions being that they grow flowers in their front gardens and vegetables in their back. The worth Mr. Hooley has even provided them with an excellent cricket ground.

There is a little beer-house on a portion of the estate lately acquired that is said to contain a mighty store of champagne, and the Papworth wine cellars are famous for the extent and value of their collection, although Mr. Hooley himself drinks little, and such is his strict observance of Sunday that he will not even serve his guests with champagne on that day. He gives them a cold dinner instead, and as many as possible of the servants have a day off. At any rate, this curious conscientiousness was in vogue at Papworth on Sundays when Mr. Hooley was at the height of his power, and there is no reason to suppose that he has let down the bars since then.

One of the most peculiar features of Papworth Hall luxury was reported not long ago. It seems that Mrs. Hooley's pet, a noble beauty of a dog, was the spurned the choicest food that the famous Papworth chef could devise, and his general indications of poor health caused much distress. After a careful examination by a medical attendant, it was discovered that the patient's teeth had become decayed through eating too much candy, and after a consultation it was decided that His Dogship should be taken in hand by a dentist who, after a series of delicate operations, provided a set of gold crowns for the animal's teeth.

Time only can tell whether Mr. Hooley will land on top again. The man who used to buy things for five million dollars and permit the public to have them for ten millions, and who was credited with having made a profit of $10,000,000 on a single transaction—the man who in one period of 24 months promoted 17 companies, each of them involving millions of dollars in the deal—the man who is proceeding so cheerfully with the Siberian concession which the Russian government declares he does not possess—is not the sort of man to stow down long.

That Siberian concession is engaging considerable attention at present. Apparently the Russian government is about to grant the concession yet, providing it is satisfied with the standing of the company. The capital is five million dollars, and a great many shares were sold before the Russian finance minister exploded his bomb shell. Arrangements are being made now to reorganize the concern to suit Russia.

Although the amount of Mr. Hooley's indebtedness at the time of his failure was rather more than $5,000,000, the figure was afterward reduced by the courts to rather less than one million. Mr. Hooley has bought in the claims of a good many of his creditors in exchange for shares in his Siberian company, and it is said that the assets now in sight will presently produce another ten cents on a dollar.

Meanwhile, poor Mr. Hooley is penniless, absolutely penniless. All his operations are carried on by him as agent for his wife.
